NEW FROM PORTA Engineered American Oak

Contours timber lining boards in Engineered American Oak add natural warmth, tactile interest and organic movement to any room and are also suitable for creating exquisite curves. Hardwearing with a distinctive textured grain pattern, American (White) Oak features a warm, light brown tone that pairs perfectly with both neutral and colourful interior palettes.

Suitable for both vertical and horizontal applications in any internal residential or commercial space, the lining boards can also be used to add a high-end finish to joinery, internal doors, accent walls and concealed doorways. They are suitable for curves down to a 1000mm radius and come in six different profiles which can be mixed and matched to create bespoke designs.

Easy installed due to a concealed fix tongue and groove connection, they can be fixed directly onto prepared plasterboard, timber, steel, brick, or masonry wall surfaces.
